The Frontman Harry Browne 2013-06-04 Celebrity philanthropy comes in many guises, but no single figure better encapsulates its delusions, pretensions and wrongheadedness than U2's iconic frontman, Bono—a fact neither sunglasses nor leather pants can hide. More than a mere philanthropist—indeed, he lags behind many of his peers when it comes to parting with his own money—Bono is better described as an advocate, one who has become an unwitting symbol of a complacent wealthy Western elite. The Frontman reveals how Bono moved his investments to Amsterdam to evade Irish taxes; his paternalistic and often bullying advocacy of neoliberal solutions in Africa; his multinational business interests; and his hobnobbing with Paul Wolfowitz and shock-doctrine economist Jeffrey Sachs. Carefully dissecting the rhetoric and actions of Bono the political operator, The Frontman shows him to be an ambassador for imperial exploitation, a man who has turned his attention to a world of savage injustice, inequality and exploitation—and helped make it worse.

Mountain Gloom and Mountain Glory Marjorie Hope Nicolson 1997 To English poets and writers of the seventeenth century, as to their predecessors, mountains were ugly protuberances which disfigured nature and threatened the symmetry of earth; they were symbols God's wrath. Yet, less than two centuries later the romantic poets sang in praise of mountain splendor, of glorious heights that stirred their souls to divine ecstasy. In this very readable and fascinating study, Marjorie Hope Nicolson considers the intellectual renaissance at the close of the seventeenth century that caused the shift from mountain gloom to mountain glory. She examines various writers from the seventeenth, eighteenth, and nineteenth centuries and traces both the causes and the process of this drastic change in perception.

The Effects of Imprisonment Alison Liebling 2013-06-17 As the number of prisoners in the UK, USA and elsewhere continues to rise, so have concerns risen about the damaging short term and long term effects this has on prisoners. This book brings together a group of leading authorities in this field, both academics and practitioners, to address the complex issues this has raised, to assess the implications and results of research in this field, and to suggest ways of mitigating the often devastating personal and psychological consequences of imprisonment.

The Greeks Paul Cartledge 2002-10-10 This book provides an original and challenging answer to the question: 'Who were the Classical Greeks?' Paul Cartledge - 'one of the most theoretically alert, widely read and prolific of contemporary ancient historians' (TLS) - here examines the Greeks and their achievements in terms of their own self-image, mainly as it was presented by the supposedly objective historians: Herodotus, Thucydides, and Xenophon. Many of our modern concepts as we understand them were invented by the Greeks: for example, democracy, theatre, philosophy, and history. Yet despite being our cultural ancestors in many ways, their legacy remains rooted in myth and the mental and material contexts of many of their achievements are deeply alien to our own ways of thinking and acting. The Greeks aims to explore in depth how the dominant group (adult, male, citizen) attempted, with limited success, to define themselves unambiguously in polar opposition to a whole series of 'Others' - non-Greeks, women, non-citizens, slaves and gods. This new edition contains an updated bibliography, a new chapter entitled 'Entr'acte: Others in Images and Images of Others', and a new afterword.

"Guerra archeologia e architettura. Le Navi di

Nemi", focuses on the Roman ships extracted from the Lake Nemi and placed in a dedicated museum, in the historical context of fascist propaganda. The ships were destroyed during the Allied campaign in Italy in 1944. The introductory papers by Monica Centanni, Daniela De Angelis, and Elisabetta Pallottino Il Centro di Documentazione di Nemi. Un luogo, e un sito, per la ricerca sulle Navi, il Lago, il Museo, and Il Museo delle Navi romane di Nemi. Passato presente e futuro, underline the necessity to reactivate and coordinate research over the Museum and surroundings, in a multidisciplinary approach, and propose the creation of a dedicated Research Centre. Giacomo Calandra di Roccolino addresses the history of the architecture of the Museum in Architettura e propaganda. Il Museo delle Navi di Nemi, spunti per una ricerca, a masterpiece by architect Vittorio Ballio Morpurgo. The relationship between the project of the Museum and the surrounding landscape, that inspired the seminal The Golden bough, by James Frazer (1915), is the topic of the article written by Agostina Incutti, Elisabetta Pallottino, Paola Porretta Paesaggio sacro, pittura di paesaggio, paesaggio costruito Ricerche in corso sul paesaggio nemorense e il Museo delle Navi romane. Flavio Altamura e Stefano Paolucci reconstruct historically the dramatic events that caused the fire that destroyed the ships in 1944 (Una lente sull'incendio delle navi romane di Nemi), rejecting the commonly accepted fault of the German troops and providing evidence that the fire could have been caused by accident by the American artillery. The importance of a cross and multidisciplinary reading of the testimonies on the Ships and the Nemi Museum is underlined by the contributions of Filippo Perfetti on the film Lo specchio di Diana by Yervant Gianikian and Angela Ricci Lucchi (1996), with a reedition of the interview with the filmmakers by Bruno Fornara, and by the contribution by Ilaria Grippa and Christian Toson "Le navi romane si possono vedere anche in tre" on the sequence set at Nemi in the film L'assassino by Elio Petri (1961). Giovanni Pietrangeli e Paola Redemagni provide a detailed description of the archival documents regarding the excavations of the ships and the company Riva Calzoni led by Guido Ucelli, preserved in the Museum of Science and Technology in Milan (Dallo scavo all'archivio. Le carte sulle Navi di Nemi negli archivi del Museo Nazionale Scienza e Tecnologia). An updated bibliography curated by Agostina Incutti and Christian Toson (Bibliografia aggiornata sulle navi di Nemi, il Museo delle navi romane e il territorio nemorense) ends the first section about the Nemi ships. The second section comprises an overview of the researches in Engramma about War, Architecture, Archaeology and Memory (numeri monografici e contributi su Guerra e Memoria pubblicati in Engramma), a contribution by Ludovico Rebaudo reconstructing the topography of an ancient Roman site discovered during World War I near Gorgo island in Grado (Anfore romane fra gli idrovolanti. Archeologia di guerra sull'isola Gorgo (luglio-agosto 1917)), and ends with L'architettura di Auschwitz, an essay by Guido Morpurgo that, by describing the architecture of the Auschwitz II - Birkenau extermination camp, reflects on the responsibility of the designer.

Costa. Le tigri del mondo (Segretissimo)

Secondo Signoroni 2023-01-12 Tre funzionari di organizzazioni sanitarie internazionali sono rimasti uccisi in un agguato alla foce del fiume Rovuma, che segna il confine della Tanzania con il Mozambico. L'obiettivo degli assalitori era un carico di medicinali destinati alla popolazione civile, e non è la prima volta che succede. Da quelle parti qualcuno sta forse avviando un business di farmaci e vaccini per comprare armi o droga. Dalle alte sfere dell'intelligence arriva l'ordine di inviare sul posto un investigatore a fare luce sull'accaduto, prima che la situazione degeneri. Dario Costa non è nuovo a missioni nell'area e grazie a relazioni consolidate potrebbe ottenere utili appoggi. Deve però avere ben chiaro che lo scenario negli anni è cambiato. Gli integralisti salafiti stanno mettendo radici e mirano a diffondere il loro credo nella regione meridionale del paese. Nel gioco degli interessi più o meno inconfessabili che spesso entrano in conflitto rivestono un ruolo decisivo anche i trafficanti di diamanti, che puntano ad allargare il mercato, e i petrolieri, che ampliano le zone di estrazione corrompendo chiunque cerchi di impedirglielo. A Costa non rimane che augurarsi buona fortuna. A destinazione lo aspetta la legge marziale dichiarata in tutto il territorio.

Quando cadrà la neve a Yol Angela

Giannitrapani 2017-05-12 Cosa può mai spingere due uomini anziani a lasciare l'Italia per raggiungere un villaggio remoto alle falde dell'Himalaya? "Quando cadrà la neve a Yol", nell'eco di una predizione, lo rivela. Racconta del viaggio che porta sulle orme che gli stessi protagonisti lasciarono cinquant'anni prima e che ora, ultra settantenni, ripercorrono. È un viaggio del tutto differente da quello del passato quando, prigionieri degli inglesi durante la Seconda Guerra Mondiale, attraversarono quasi tutta l'India da sud a nord per raggiungere il campo di prigionia al quale erano stati destinati. Ora lo fanno da uomini liberi, ma devono ancora affrontare conti in sospeso e incontrare fantasmi sepolti nella memoria.

Schegge Daniele Berto 2017-03-27 Le schegge arrivano di colpo. Pungono, spingono e penetrano sempre più in dentro fino a sfondare l'animo. Poi bruciano, si contorcono e scalpitano per uscire. Si trovano in corridoi di pensieri, nei piani alternati dei vuoti, in scomode sedute su punti di domanda, oltre muri immaginari e nel labirinto della mente. Sono i frammenti (grezzi e taglienti nelle loro cuspidi o bicuspidi cangianti, a volte con le punte smusse, raramente piccoli diamanti splendidi...)

di un minatore che percorre la miniera più dura: l'anima in cui scende a cercare se stesso. È un viaggio fuori dal branco, mentre il mondo attorno - implacabile - divora pomeriggi, giorni, mesi, anni e vite. Questo è il viaggio nei silenzi di un ragazzo che sta diventando un uomo. Daniele Berto è nato nel 1983 e vive a Treviso. Schegge è il suo primo libro di poesie.

An important book in the series. . . . Many elements which will be exploited to huge degree and cast a huge shadow over later pages are introduced here for the first time. . . . Ecologia e lavoro AA. VV.
2023-09-01T00:00:00+02:00 Salvaguardia ecologica e lavoro sono due aspetti fondamentali, purtroppo spesso messi in concorrenza, per garantire la presenza dell'uomo sulla Terra. Finora le occasioni per riflettere in modo organico ed esplicito sul loro rapporto e intorno a come esso venga elaborato nelle rappresentazioni artistico-culturali contemporanee sono state rare

e, tranne per alcuni lavori, tale binomio non è stato ancora oggetto di un'analisi sistematica. Mentre l'idea di lavoro, di produzione e perfino quella di progresso stanno rapidamente cambiando messe di fronte all'evidenza dell'impatto ambientale, l'asse "Ecologia e lavoro" del Projet OBERT (Observatoire Européen des Récits du Travail) ha sentito la necessità di procedere a uno scavo archeologico della cultura artistica italiana, per comprendere come sia cambiata la relazione uomo-lavoro-ambiente dalla Seconda rivoluzione industriale ad oggi.

The Architecture of Pica Ciamarra Associati

Antonietta Iolanda Lima 2019-04 Since 1970, based in an isolated building situated on the peninsula of Posillipo, Pica Ciamarra Associati (www.pcaint.eu) has acted as a laboratory of architectural and urban design which has gradually incorporated new members and new energies over the time: using a multidisciplinary approach, the roots of the architectural practice lie in the intensive theoretical and practical work begun in the early 1960s by Massimo Pica Ciamarra. Since then the practice has been marked by a continuous relationship with Le Carré Bleu Feuille internationale d'architecture and leading members of the cultural milieu of Team 10: this has led to constant attention to everything that lies beyond form, to the relationship with contexts that also include non-spatial contexts, and to high levels of integration and dialectical discussion. According to Pica Ciamarra Associati, a design transcends the approaches of a single sector, providing simultaneous solutions to contradictory requirements, combining utopia and practicality. The poetics of the fragment: it mediates between architecture and the urban dimension; some designs also have the aim of becoming absorbed within a context as 'informed fragments'. This monograph is the result of an intensive period of work and consists of two interacting parts. It stems from research into the archive of the studio Pica Ciamarra and conversation with the members of the architectural practice. Organised diachronically, the book tells the long story, unfolding over a period of over fifty years of a team of Neapolitan architects and designers, who have maintained the lively spirit of the practice which is still geared towards the future. The textual and iconographic account tells a story and offers an interpretation that highlight the vibrant atmosphere of the studio, based on a consistency of thought and action, and fuelled by an interest in many different forms of knowledge. The contextualisation of the events related to the studio, as they unfolded over time, is wide-ranging, coherent and connotative. Antonietta Iolanda Lima, professor of history of architecture at the University of Palermo, has always tried, through theory, teaching and design, to disseminate the importance of history which can embracing innovation and tradition to an equal degree, forming a new architectural language. According to her view of architecture, history and design are closely connected, a 'single entity' as is reflected by her career. Since the 1980s, her academic work has gained increasing importance, a way of avoiding narrow sectoral approaches in the training of future architects, offering a holistic stance of the history of architecture and an architecture that contributes to shaping critical thought and a thriving cultural life.

A Space of Their Own: The Archaeology of Nineteenth Century Lunatic Asylums in Britain, South Australia and Tasmania Susan Piddock 2007-12-18 Employing the considerable archaeological and historical skills in her armory, Susan Piddock tries to lift the lid on the lunatic asylums of years gone by. Films and television programs have portrayed them as places of horror where the patients are restrained and left to listen to the cries of their fellow inmates in despair. But what was the world of nineteenth century lunatic asylums really like? Are these images true, or are we laboring under a misunderstanding?

Voir la mer 2013 For Voir la mer, Sophie Calle invited inhabitants of Istanbul, who often originated from central Turkey, to see the sea for the first time. "I took 15 people of all ages, from kids to one man in his 80s ... once we were safely by the sea, I instructed them to take away their hands and look at it. Then, when they were ready-- for some it was five minutes and for others 15-- they had to turn to me and let me look at those eyes that had just seen the sea." The project was eventually composed of 14 five-minute videos, made for Calle by Caroline Champetier. Each person is filmed from behind, eventually turning to face the camera, revealing the emotions the experience has evoked. This charming catalogue features Calle's evocative photographs of these subjects.

Dove comincia la notte Alessio Viola 2013-02-13
Roberto De Angelis è un bravo poliziotto. Di più: è il migliore della squadra Mobile di Bari. Sempre a caccia, specialmente di notte, quando la città dimentica la propria bellezza e diventa territorio della criminalità. Ma una vita in strada è una vita di solitudine, di disillusione, di violenza quotidiana, e prima o poi anche lo sbirro più duro si domanda se ha senso lottare ancora. C'è una donna, un medico trentenne, in cui ha intravisto una possibilità di rinascita, ma lei ha un lato oscuro che non concepisce distinzione tra amore e dolore, e che Roberto non può, non vuole assecondare. L'occasione per risollevarsi arriva la sera in cui intercetta Giacinto Trentadue, un giovane spacciatore che gestisce il traffico di droga intorno a un baracchino ambulante di salsicce. Un delinquente di piccolo calibro, almeno in apparenza. Lo pedina fino a Poggiofelice, un residence alla periferia sud destinato un tempo agli sfrattati: non sa ancora, il poliziotto, di avere individuato la fortezza della nuova malavita barese, un "mucchio selvaggio" che è uscito dai quartieri storici, fuori dai clan organizzati, e si sta preparando a scatenare una campagna sanguinaria di conquista del territorio. Per lui è soltanto l'inizio di un viaggio all'inferno, oltre i propri limiti e quelli della legge. Dove comincia la notte è un noir di struggente malinconia, al tempo stesso uno dei più crudi e lucidi di questi anni; è il ritratto di una città per molti aspetti sconosciuta, capace di regalare sprazzi di infinita dolcezza, e di pugnalarti al cuore un attimo dopo.
